RE: Naming of Light Rail Stop "Juniors @ Kingsford"

I note that the Geographical Names Board are proposing that the last stop of the Light Rail be called "Nine Ways."

While I understand their reasoning, I must say that "Juniors @ Kingsford" would be much more appropriate.

Everyone in the surrounding area knows the Juniors. Anyone who is anyone is aware of the tremendous community work and would be happy to lend any support possible to see The Juniors recognised in this way.

Add to that the Club is one of Sydney's premier venues for food and entertainment and carries the iconic South Sydney rugby league brand and you have some pretty good reasoning for naming the last stop after the mighty South Sydney Juniors.

Sincerely,

RE: Proposed naming of Light Rail Stop

[REDACTED] we submit the naming of the Light Rail stop should be Juniors @ Kingsford for so many obvious reasons.

The Juniors at Kingsford is the most community minded Club in the local area and it reaches out to its 40 odd thousand members. It is an institution.

Every taxi driver in Sydney can identify with the Juniors, but surely not the nine ways which really means nothing anymore as this description no longer is relevant to our area given the rerouting of traffic and the disappearance of the roundabout at the old nine ways.

Time has moved on the Juniors @ Kingsford is an iconic brand easily identifiable with both locals and visitors in the city of Randwick. [REDACTED] are at a loss that the Juniors @ Kingsford will not be a automatic choice for the naming rights, [REDACTED]

Sincerely [REDACTED]

Please quote our reference:

I write in regard to the naming proposal put forward for the last stop of the Light Rail located on Anzac Parade, south of Rainbow Street near the Nine Ways roundabout.

I note that the Geographical Names Board propose to call this stop "Nine Ways" and I would like to offer my support to The Juniors in its campaign to name the stop "Juniors @ Kingsford".

The Juniors is a landmark in the south east of Sydney. For over 60 years now, it has been an iconic destination of cultural significance for locals, providing a premier venue for dining and entertainment as well as invaluable community support for many organisations and groups.

With The Juniors located so close to the Light Rail stop – as well as the club's reputation in the area as a geographical reference point and its significant social contribution – including the club in the Light Rail stop name would be appropriate and a logical reflection of its proximity, as well as a nod to the Club's significance in the local area.

Please pass this letter onto the appropriate contact to acknowledge our support to The Juniors in the naming of the light rail.
